We are here to help everyone

FREE & CONFIDENTIAL SUPPORT for any woman or girl who has experienced sexual violence.

Services that understand that all survivors have different needs and some needs may relate to your culture or identity.

What is sexual violence?

Sexual violence is any unwanted sexual contact or behaviour from another person.

There are many forms of sexual violence, including:

- Unwanted sex
- Sexual assault or abuse, including rape
- Rape within marriage
- Childhood sexual abuse
- Female genital mutilation
- Honour-based violence
- Forced marriage

Everyone's experiences are different – specialist sexual abuse services are here to listen and support you, no matter what your experience may be.

How services work

The specialist sexual violence services listed opposite can provide:

- A translation service
- Confidential support
- Services free of charge
- Female support workers
- Support by phone, email or face to face
- Many also offer you a choice – to be supported by someone from a black, Asian or minority ethnic group or a different community - whichever you prefer.

Services can offer:

- A safe space
- Emotional and practical support
- Help with reporting
- Support through the criminal justice system
- Counselling
- Independent Sexual Violence Advisors
- Support groups

It's okay to ask questions

You won't cause offence by calling to ask who will support you, and which community they belong to.

Values

All services promise to:

- Listen to you
- Believe you
- Not judge you
- Support your choices, whatever they may be.

Confidentiality

Your support worker won't tell anyone what you have shared without your permission. This means that your family, friends and community don't have to know that you have contacted a service. You can ask questions about where your information is written down and where it is stored. It's your right to know!
